Sophie Dean, Head of Sixth Form, congratulated the students: "It has been a privilege to watch this group of students grow into confident, capable young adults. They have faced challenges with maturity and determination, and their results today are richly deserved. We are incredibly proud of everything they have achieved—both academically and personally."

The sixth form continues to expand its offer, supporting students through a blend of academic excellence, tailored pastoral care, and guidance on next steps beyond school.

Thomas Neill, Headteacher, also commented on the success: "These results reflect the exceptional effort of our students, we are delighted to see so many students progressing to exciting futures and know they will continue to make a positive impact wherever they go."

The celebration is shared across the wider school community, including families, staff, and trustees, all of whom have played a key role in supporting students throughout their post-16 journey.

Liz West, CEO of Initio Learning Trust, added: "We are thrilled to see such strong outcomes for our students. Their achievements reflect the values that define our trust: aspiration, resilience, and community. Well done to each and every young person—we look forward to seeing what they achieve next."

As students take their next steps into higher education, employment, or training, Queen Elizabeth's School remains committed to nurturing ambition and preparing young people for the future.
