Dear Parents/Carers,

Re: Upcoming and Proposed Educational Residential Visits

At Queen Elizabeth's School, we are committed to providing our students with a wide range of enriching experiences beyond the classroom. Educational visits play a vital role in broadening horizons, developing independence and resilience, and bringing learning to life.

We are pleased to share the attached Upcoming and Proposed Residential Trips leaflet, which outlines the educational residential visits currently planned or proposed for the coming academic years. The programme has been designed to offer opportunities across a variety of curriculum areas and interests, including languages, the arts, sport, performing arts and overseas expedition experiences.

Please note that, as with all educational visits, the proposed dates and costs are subject to final confirmation and sufficient student interest. Further information, including itineraries, payment schedules and information evenings, will be shared with eligible students and their families as each trip is launched.

To ensure that we are able to offer the broadest possible range of experiences to as many students as possible, the PE and PCA departmental trips will alternate on an annual basis. This approach enables us to maintain a diverse programme of visits while recognising the financial and organisational commitment involved in running large residential trips. We hope this will provide students with access to an even wider variety of opportunities throughout their time at Queen Elizabeth's School.

We encourage you to discuss these exciting opportunities with your child and to consider which experiences may be of interest over the coming years. Planning ahead can often make budgeting and preparation much more manageable.

We look forward to sharing further details about each visit as they become available and hope that many of our students will take advantage of these valuable opportunities.

Thank you, as always, for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,

J Farmer
