

Queen Elizabeth's School celebrates students' success in 2026 A-Level examinations

Staff and students at Queen Elizabeth's School, part of Initio Learning Trust, are today celebrating excellent A-Level results. Students at Queen Elizabeth's join their peers across the country who are receiving their results after sitting exams throughout May and June.

Thomas Neill, Headteacher of Queen Elizabeth's School, said: "I am delighted with our students' fantastic results today and I am very proud of all they have achieved. These are our best ever results in some key measures, and that is all due to the hard work of students and staff. Students have risen to the challenges before them and done so with real grit and resilience. They thoroughly deserve their success. Our staff have worked incredibly hard to support them and we all look forward to seeing what the students go on to do next. This is an excellent set of results and another milestone on our journey towards making the school the very best it can be for the young people in our community".

There are some outstanding success stories in this year's results:

Fred Brown, A*A*A*, full scholarship awarded for the London School of Economics

Gully Mount: AAA, Oxford

Oliver Lusher: A*A*A

Will Langridge: A*A*A

Jago Edmond: A*A*A

Martha Dewar-Cutts: A*A*A

Luka Bennett: A*A*A

Hayley Dave: A*A*C

Mia Burrill: A*A*AB

Ewan McKay - A* A A

Max Chater - A* A A

Matilda Herridge - A* Distinction* Distinction*

Freya Horne - A* Distinction* Distinction*

Brian Boyes, Interim CEO of Initio Learning Trust, said: "Congratulations to everyone at Queen Elizabeth's School as they receive these fabulous results. "The school has a long history of academic success and after all the hard work put in by students this year, I hope they are proud of their achievements. We wish all of our students the best as they move onto their next steps in education, training, or employment."

